

Find work that suits you

www.vinster.ai

Luke George
07-07-2025

Your ideal job content

What you enjoy doing

Teaching, coordinating, managing, changing, rescuing, assessing, executing, considering, travelling, working from home, sparring, contributing, letting go, looking ahead, leading, reflecting, brainstorming, applying, orienting, advising, doing, working, thinking, learning, switching, probing, influencing, taking action

Your ideal work environment

Interim management, working from home, taking days off, stability, expert colleagues, dynamics, ad hoc, trust in leadership, own domain, management tasks, train travel, perspective, changing teams, long-term goals, own control, influence, physical distance to workplace, professionalisation, bustle, dynamics, stability, autonomy, structure, overview

Your areas of interest

Education, curriculum development, quality improvement, student guidance, long-term vision, contributing to change, meaning in work, coaching, guidance, sectors related to education, talent development, professional growth, management, in-depth content, involvement in policy

Possible jobs

Team Leader in Higher Education

In this role, you combine managing, coordinating, leading, curriculum development and quality improvement. The role suits your wish for autonomy, long-term goals, and working in a professional, stable and dynamic environment. This role offers space for policy, professionalisation, and meaning in work.

Policy Advisor Education and Innovation

This role focuses on changing, looking ahead, brainstorming, bringing structure and contributing to long-term vision. As a policy advisor, you combine in-depth content knowledge with influence on policy and professionalisation. The role fits working environments with changing staff, hustle, expert colleagues and own domain.

Creative Producer at a Museum

This role revolves around teaching, influencing, sparring, taking action and developing creative ideas. As an advisor, you connect content themes with vision, growth and change. You feel at home in dynamics, projects, improvisation and inspiring collaboration. The role offers space to create content with influence and your own domain that makes people start thinking and learning.

Research plan

Now what

Your career report is ready! Now it's time to do some research, because you probably want more information before making a final choice.

Pick two (or more) jobs from the ones that came up in the analysis of your answers that you'd like to explore further.

Your research plan:

1. Ask AI (or Google) for a detailed job description of the job that interests you most. (The job AI about which you are most curious.)
2. Search for information about the job on the application website.
3. Search for information about the work. What are the tasks? What are the requirements? What are the benefits?
4. Is there anything that you are not sure you really want to do? What are the pros and cons?
5. Do you have any questions? If so, request information about what stands out to you? Do the topics make you excited?

Research plan

Continuation of step-by-step-plan:

6. Look for organizations where people with this job work.

7. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

Ask the question: What are the requirements for the job?

8. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

9. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

10. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

11. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

12. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

13. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

14. Visit the website of the organization. What is the offer?

Take your time and discuss it with others.

When you've gathered enough information, choose the role that suits you best and complete the search profile on the website. Vinster will turn your text into a few lines you can use to let others know what you're looking for.

You can now start applying with focus! Search for vacancies, tell your network what you want, and share on LinkedIn which role you're seeking.

We wish you lots of joy and success in your next job!